Support Firefighter Class

Union County Fire Department, your fire department, is a combination department meaning there are both career and volunteer firefighters who respond to emergencies in Union County. The department is mostly volunteer. These volunteers are a group of dedicated men and women who sacrifice time and effort to complete fire training and to respond to emergencies. All firefighters must complete training and all volunteer firefighters start their firefighting journey by completing the Basic Support Firefighter Course.

Basic Support Firefighter is the entry level course for the department. Not all firefighters go into burning buildings. Some operate firetrucks, pull fire hose, provide water supply, or generally support firefighting operations. That is the Support Firefighter's role. Volunteers must complete the Basic Support Firefighter course and pass the Georgia Firefighters Standards and Training Council's Basic Support Firefighter Test. The department has just completed a Basic Support Firefighter course and have graduated several new members of the department.

The class began last month and the students have been very dedicated and energetic during the class. They have been learning the basics of fire and firefighting operations. The class began with orientation and fire behavior where students were introduced to the science of fire. The class then taught students subjects such as communications, personal protective equipment, fire hoses, support functions, and fire ground operations.

Students must also complete a basic hazardous materials course. The course, Hazardous Materials Awareness, is an entry level course that introduces students to hazardous materials. The class includes chemical characteristics, common containers and transport, how to identify hazardous materials, and how to notify supporting agencies to help safely handle a hazardous materials incident. The Hazardous Material Awareness course is part of the basic requirement to be a firefighter.

Both courses include a great deal of reading and studying that recruits must do on their own time. At almost every class, recruits practice the skills they have learned. Recruits are drilled on the use of their personal protective equipment and how to operate

Who Are You?

His call surprised me, mainly because we were only somewhat acquainted. The pastor wanted me to speak at his church - Maranatha Baptist in Plains, Georgia.

Perhaps you associate it with peanut farming or the toothy grin of their famous Sunday School teacher. I accepted the invite, praying the Lord would speak truth, to me and to the church. Everyone wants to know truth, right?

On the appointed evening, I arrived early and took my place as the festivities began. A few minutes after the opening welcome, the farmer-teacher steps out of the evening darkness into the church, without wife or security shadow. He was one of four fellows the pastor called forward to take the evening collection.

Then I was up. The sermon text was Jesus' eyebrow-raising encounter at Jacob's well with a woman whose lengthy reputation followed her there (John 4). Yet He saw her. He knew her. He shocked her, not just by talking to her but asking for a drink. "If you knew who is speaking to you, you would have asked for water," He said. "He would give you living water." His well is different, far beyond Jacob's.

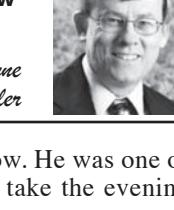

He wasn't done with her. She wasn't done with Him either. You can tell she wondered, "Who are you?" He said, "The water I give will become a well of water springing up to eternal life." Then He revealed just how well he knew her, mentioning private details. That got her attention. She sought refuge in her religious heritage, then spoke of the promised Messiah. That was his moment. "I who speak to you am He," Jesus said.

That's who He is. The promise fulfilled, the one who sees you, knows your name, and offers you the well of water springing up to eternal life. Jesus offers you a new identity in Him. By faith, that's who you are.

After the service in Plains, he was the first to thank me for the message. He said his name and shook my hand. "I know who you are, Mr. President," I said.

Commissioner's Questions

Many people do not realize that the US Census Bureau administers survey instruments not only every 10 years (Decennial Census), but at different times and for different reasons. The Census Bureau administers, demographic surveys, economic surveys, sponsored surveys, and special topics surveys as they are requested. In looking over the data, it was brought to my attention that results of the 2020 US Census survey might not be readily available to our residents. This week's questions address some of the data that is often requested, and the information comes directly from the United States Census Bureau at census.gov.

Q. What is the current population of Union County, GA? How does the current data compare with data from the 2010 census?

A. According to the Census Bureau, 2020 data shows that Union County, GA has a population of 24,632. This is an increase of 3,276 over the 2010 data reported, which was 21,356. This indicates a 15.3% increase.

Q. We have always thought that the majority of Union County consists of people who came here after retirement. Does the data support that thought?

A. The most recent available estimates show that 33.7% of the Union County population are over the age of 65 years of age.

Q. How does the age of Union County residents compare with other North Georgia counties?

A. The same resources show 65+ age residents in Towns County at 34.9%; Fannin County at 30.6%; Gilmer County at 25.5%; and White County at 23.3%.

Q. It seems reasonable to expect that the total number of houses in Union County increased over the span of time between census/surveys. How much of an increase was reported?

A. The data compares 2010 to 2019, and the 2010 data shows 14,052 housing units in Union County as compared to the 2019 data that shows 14,995 housing units. This is a 7% increase within that span of time. The total number of households in 2010 were reported at 9116, while the total number reported for 2019 was 9743. This is also an increase of 7% within that span of time.

Habitat for Humanity

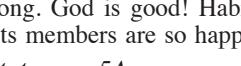

On Tuesday, Feb. 1, we held a small announcement ceremony to reveal the decision of the Family Selection Committee regarding our newest Habitat homeowner! Habitat board members, employees and volunteers gathered in the early afternoon at the Habitat ReStore to celebrate. The Family Selection Committee presented Brandy Snow with a symbolic key, and a sentiment, "Your family has touched our hearts, and we are excited to build you and your family a Habitat home." Teresa Colwell spoke on behalf of the Family Selection Committee and the Habitat board.

Brandy Snow and her two boys, Wyatt and Elijah, were so excited to hear the news. Wyatt and Elijah were already telling us what color they would like their rooms. Brandy stated that she was expecting this because she had been praying for it for so long. God is good! Habitat for Humanity and its members are so happy

Support ESPLOST

Dear Editor,

I was fortunate enough to grow up in Blairsville and graduate with the Class of 1995. My children will also graduate from Union County Schools, but it is a very different school system now than it was 27 years ago. This difference is attributable to the Education SPLOST and how the system has used this one penny most wisely.

Before the Fine Arts building, performances were held in the gym or cafeteria. There was not a theatre arts program. There was not a STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics) program for our students to advance and get ahead in their studies, allowing them to graduate early or take college/technical school classes or participate in work-based learning. The CTE (Career, Technical and Agricultural Education) wing of the high school allows students to advance in nursing before post-secondary education. The Future Farmers of America now have a state-of-the-art Agriscience building that is constantly in use.

I am very proud of this continued sales tax and the advances our school has made with that $0.01. I hope you vote YES for this tax to continue.

On SPLOST Misconceptions

Dear Editor,

In the January County Meeting, SPLOST was being addressed to clear misconceptions by some members of the public. One item addressed in the meeting was, "Union County has not abandoned any SPLOST projects per each approved referendum. Union County has adhered to all SPLOST related statutes as related to the administration of these SPLOST programs."

SPLOST 2 Referendum called for the renovation, expansion, and equipping of an existing courthouse, of an existing E 911 center, the acquisition of fire engines and rescue equipment, the acquisition, construction, and equipping of the Meeks Park Community Pavilion, the renovation, expansion, and equipping of an existing library, the acquisition, construction, and equipping of a new Community/Youth center, and the acquisition, construction, reconstruction, repair, improvement, and installation of roads, streets, and bridges. The county abandoned the Meeks Park Pavilion and the Community/Youth center to name a few. Grant money was given by the state for the Pavilion that was not built. Where did that money go?

The 2008 audit shows a $5,051,951 deficit, 2009 audit shows a deficit of $7,668,013,

Town Hall Meetings

Dear Citizens of Union County,

Our Commissioner is putting more effort into ensuring we are not heard than he is in hearing what we have to say.

In November, three citizens got up to speak on the agenda at the Commissioner Meeting. One spoke on misappropriation of SPLOST fund spending, another spoke on concerning land deals made with taxpayer money, and I spoke on patterns I had seen in the way our Commissioner speaks to our fellow citizens (gaslighting, silencing, villainizing and separating dissenting voices). His response was that we were lying and spreading disinformation, but he was unable to tell us what was said that was true and what was not. He did say that I am a "good person" and that what I said was simply "uncomfortable" (I assure you it's far more uncomfortable to be on the receiving end of the behaviors). A man asked why he was limiting our time allotment for the Q&A section, and the Commissioner had the deputy remove the man from the room. (Videos of this are on the "Voices of Union County, GA" YouTube channel).

The following month, the county attorney opened the meeting by announcing we can now only speak for three minutes instead of five and that we are now limited to only ask questions based on what was spoken about in the agenda. He also had increased the presence of deputies by an intimidating amount. When I asked why he increased the amount of deputies, he responded by giving personal details pertaining to my

Pro SPLOST

Dear Editor,

As a Union county resident "of a certain age" — retired and with no children in the school system — I will nevertheless be voting to continue our SPLOST tax.

I'll be voting in favor of continuing this tax because I care about the education and well-being of our community's students. I want them to have a modern, safe and well-staffed place to attend class. I want this county's school system to continue to be respected for its high educational standards and fiscal responsibility. I want to know that I will have had a tiny part in ensuring that Union County's prosperity will continue long after I'm not around to enjoy it. A well-educated populace is one of the best ways to do this.

Far from being a "disaster for families" as stated in a previous letter to the editor regarding this issue, continuing this tax can only serve to strengthen families, as it allows our school sys-

Soil Testing

Soil testing is a very important part of growing a quality crop, having a good looking garden, having a quality lawn, or a good pasture. Soil testing gives you an insider look at what is going on in your soil. Even though it's only February now is a good time to think about soil testing and prepping the soil. Let's take a look at what a soil test can do for you and why it's a good idea to have your soil tested.

If you have a garden at your house it's a good idea to have your soil tested every other year. A soil test will show you the pH, phosphorus, potassium, calcium, magnesium, zinc, and manganese levels in your soil. These are essential elements for plant growth. Nitrogen is also a very important nutrient for plant growth. However, nitrogen is very mobile in the soil. Therefore, you could test your soil and by the time that you receive your soil results back from the lab the amount of nitrogen in the soil could be drastically different.

pH is often the most limiting factors when it comes to growing plants in the mountains. A soil test will tell you the pH and the recommended lime to bring that pH up to an acceptable level for the plants. Any lime that is added to soil will take three to six months to fully take effect. That means for spring plantings, now is a good time to take a soil test and begin adding lime.

When taking a sample for your lawn, a depth of 4 inches is appropriate. If you're taking a sample for gardens, ornamentals, mixed fruit trees, and wildlife plots sample to a depth of 6-8 inches. You can use a spade or a soil probe. When you take the sample it's best to take multiple samples from around the plot that you are interested in. This way you'll get an average of the area that you're sampling and a better representative sample. Using a trowel or small shovel, take eight to 10 samples and mix them together in a bucket. From that bucket take the sample that you'll bring into the Extension office so that we can send it to the UGA labs. Make sure that you get enough soil so that the lab can test properly. About 2 cups of soil is needed.

If you're sampling from an area that has mulch or grass on top of it push that material away so that you penetrate down to the soil. Pull out any rock or roots that you get with the soil sample and throw them away. When you take the sample, spread the wet/damp soil on a newspaper and let the soil air out overnight before bringing it in to the office, so that it dries down some.

When deciding how many samples you need to take, look at the area and determine how many different types of conditions you have.

The U.S. Census Bureau defines a household to include all the persons who occupy a housing unit as their USUAL PLACE OF RESIDENCE. This also aligns with what we know about some families who have second homes here in Union County.

Q. How many people live in each home?

A. The data shows that in 2010, there were 2.18 people per household. Persons per household in 2020 was reported at 2.33. This is a 7% increase in people per household.

Q. How many businesses are located in Union County?

departure to Oklahoma. They also knew they would not be allowed to take much with them. Therefore, his family and the other Cherokee families had hidden all their gold nearby.

The old man related the gold had been hidden in a rock face above the Turkey's Foot. This place was called the Turkey's Foot because it was a place where three creeks came together to form one creek. From the top of the rock face the place looked just like the track of a turkey. Clifford and his sons looked for this gold for 40 years without ever finding an ounce of it. Clifford went to his grave longing to find the gold at the Turkey's Foot.

How does this story relate back to Ausborn and Elizabeth Mabry? When this couple migrated to Oklahoma, they settled in a place called Briartown. Ausborn was some kind of minister. We have not determined whether he went to Oklahoma to be with family or did he go to serve the Cherokee on the mission field. Briartown is in Muscogee County and is a part of the reservation of the Western Band of the Cherokee Nation. We still do not know for sure that either Ausborn or Elizabeth were Cherokee.

The county failed to print a published report required by O.C.G.A. 48-8-122. Had the county followed the law the taxpayers would have been informed that several projects were not started, not complete, the projects were behind schedule, projects were underfunded and there were no excess proceeds listed.

Who establishes the revenue estimate and the project costs specified in the resolution and on the ballot?

The county is responsible for estimating the SPLOST revenues expected to be collected by the U.S. Census Bureau, an establishment is a single physical location at which business is conducted or where services or industrial operations are performed. The 2019 data for employer establishments in Union County is reported at 564. Some additional interesting information includes: In 2019, 78.6% of workers in Union County, GA drove alone to work, followed by those who carpooled to work (11.2%) and those who worked at home (7.7%).

As mentioned earlier, this information came from the U.S. Census Bureau. Full definitions and further breakdown can be found online at data.census.gov.

One of the challenges that Georgia faces is the "War for Talent." Many of these issues need to be addressed now while the economy is still strong and before inflation does irreparable damage. It is said that some of the solutions are for businesses to provide more benefits and flexible schedules to employees. (But isn't that where we were 40 or 50 years ago?)

There was also a very interesting discussion on what is in the forecast for the use of electric vehicles versus conventional auto in 2030, but we will have to leave that for another time.

Each soil test costs $10. For example, if you have a low lying spot, a steep slope, and a wooded area, each one of these would need a unique soil sample done. When you receive the results from the lab they will have recommendations for you based on the types of plants that you have or plan to have.

Many of these new folks are here specifically because of the good reputation our county schools enjoy. Many other people come to Union county as tourists and part-time residents. Their dollars contribute to ESPLOST revenue, too, effectively increasing the benefit to the local school system.

I'm all too aware of the rising rate of inflation and come away with a healthy case of "sticker shock" every time I drive away from the grocery store or gas station, but the educational needs of our county's children don't go away during challenging financial times. Waiting for a more convenient financial climate would be doing them a disservice.

would be the Civic Center, the Community Center or possibly even the Courthouse. A petition must be made by the citizens to our Commissioner to provide a venue for a Town Hall meeting for the citizens of Union County. In the meantime, anyone willing to provide a venue would be a great help and true patriot! This is what our Constitutions were created to protect, and it's very necessary we do what we can to be heard by those who took an oath to serve us by protecting the Constitutions.

This most recent January meeting, he further silenced us by forcing the speaker to stand at a podium in the audience without a microphone and then closed the meeting without allowing the usual Q&A, forcing the packed house of citizens to stand in the hallway wondering why they were not allowed to be heard.

It is now VERY apparent that we are in need of a Town Hall meeting for the citizens to gather, share ideas, ask questions, and discuss our needs as the citizens funding this county.

The appropriate venue for this would be the Civic Center, the Community Center or possibly even the Courthouse. A petition must be made by the citizens to our Commissioner to provide a venue for a Town Hall meeting for the citizens of Union County. In the meantime, anyone willing to provide a venue would be a great help and true patriot! It will be most effective to hold the meetings the first week of the month so that we have two weeks to gather our thoughts and another two weeks to prepare ourselves for the local city and county meetings.

I'm aware we have become complacent in our understanding of what a government For the People, By the People actually looks like, and I'm aware there will be growing pains as we wake up and begin to take back the power of the people's voice. I'm also aware that, no matter how polite we are in standing our ground, it's going to look like a fight. But this isn't a fight. This is what our Constitutions were created to protect, and it's very necessary we do what we can to be heard by those who took an oath to serve us by protecting the Constitutions.
