Atlanta - The Union County Lady Panthers got their season off on the right foot with a 61-53 victory over the Banks County Lady Leopards from AAA.

Meanwhile the Panthers weren't as fortunate as they went up against a Banks County squad that could easily be the best Leopard team since 1995 when they reached the Elite 8.

The action tipped off at Philips Arena on Friday afternoon with the Lady Panthers playing their season opener against a Banks team that already had its way with one mountain school.

Last Tuesday, Banks dismantled the Towns County Lady Indians, 68-20. But they wouldn't be as fortunate against Union.

The Lady Panthers opened

Senior Lisa Nalaschi scored 16 in Union's win over Banks.

up a 31-21 advantage at the break but Banks stormed back to get within two at 41-39 entering the fourth. But the fourth quarter belonged to Union as they pulled away 61-53.

Senior Brooke Maddox led the way with 22 points and fellow senior Lisa Nalaschi finished with 16.

The Union County men were unable to overcome the size of Banks' frontline, who feature a 6-7 and a 6-6 starter. At 6-7, Austin Venable is the Class of 2015's No. 68 ranked prospect in Georgia.

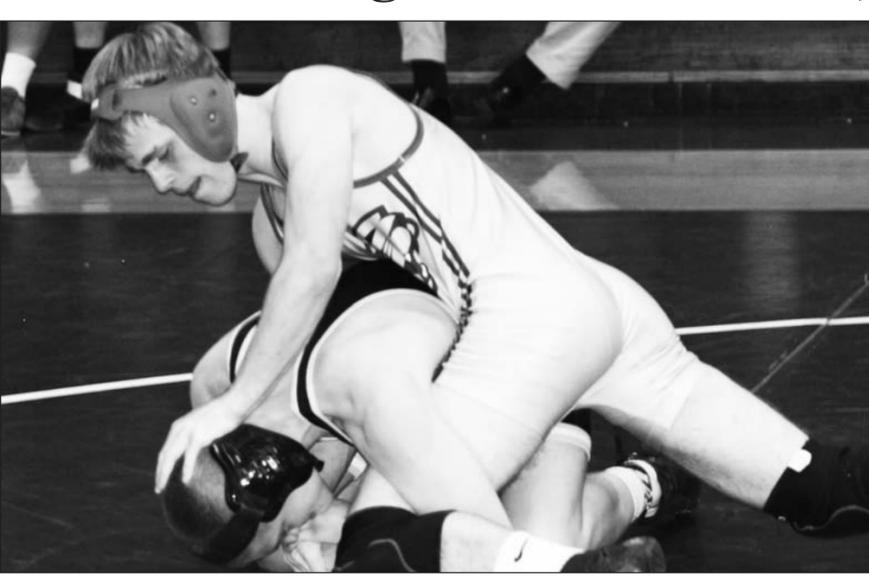

The Leopards held a 30-26 lead at the break before pulling away in a 64-53 victory.

Hunter Hughes hit 14-of-15 from the foul line and led the Panthers with 23 points.

Stewart's season ends on high note

Tony Stewart has had more downs than ups in the last two years.

In 2013 he broke his leg in a sprint car accident and missed 15 races during the latter part of the season, and was not fully healed when the 2014 season started.

On August 9, 2015, Stewart was involved in another sprint car accident that took the life of Kevin Ward after being hit by Stewart's machine.

There has been a tremendous amount of emotional pain that has not allowed Stewart to regain his old racing form.

But Kevin Harvick's championship brought an uplifting end to a tumultuous 2014 season for Stewart, who missed three races after his involvement in that tragic racing accident, involving Kevin Ward.

After Harvick's win, Stewart spoke about his role as team owner, his season and his thoughts on Harvick's first championship to the Charlotte Observer.

"You know, I think more than anything, I'm happy for this organization and happy for this team," he said. "It's not about me right now; it's about us as a group. It's about everybody at Stewart-Haas Racing. You know, you learn when you're in these situations that it's about a larger group of people and a bigger picture that's in play. I'm grateful that I have a co-owner and co-workers and teammates that are such great people that no matter what's been thrown at us the last year and a half that this organization was able to thrive and continue to prosper and be successful through this."

"It shows the depth of this organization and what these people are capable of. Nights like tonight are when you sit back and you reflect on everything and you realize how proud you are of your entire group and everybody that you surround yourself with."

"The hard part is you've got to do the things that got you here in the first place and not get caught up in the moment, not get out of that rhythm that got you here. I didn't tell them anything they haven't been doing all year, but sometimes going into that last deal, it's nice to just remind them why they're here and why they do what they do."

Stewart now has claimed three Sprint Cup driving championships and two owner titles.

"This has been the toughest and most emotional year of my life," Stewart continued.

MISTAKE PROBABLY COST GORDON A WIN
It is what it is.

It we could use hindsight to help direct our future course of action, what a wonderful world this would be.

Such was the case with Jeff Gordon and his team during the latter part of the Homestead Cup race.

Gordon was leading the race when a caution came out with 20 laps remaining. Most of the other leaders, along with race-winner Kevin Harvick pitted for four fresh tires. Gordon and Denny Hamlin did not. They stayed on the track.

The decision not to pit kept Gordon first but with most of the field taking tires, it left him at a disadvantage. During the next caution with six laps to go, Gordon pitted to get four new tires. He didn't have time to recover, and finished 10th despite leading a race-high 161 laps.

So what happened?

Crew chief Alan Gustafson said his mistake late in Sunday's race at Homestead-Miami Speedway cost Gordon a chance to win. Gustafson discussed his late-race strategy on SiriusXM Radio.

"Really, the error was made," said Gustafson. "I told Jeff to stay out when the majority of the field pitted and that put us in a bad situation. Jeff felt like (on the following caution) we weren't in a very good position to succeed, so we made a decision to come pit. Really the first stop, when us and Denny (Hamlin) and ... a few other cars stayed out, that was the one that really hurt us."

"That's on me. It was a mistake I made. I tried to keep the track position. I felt like that was going to be the highest percentage decision and it ended up not being. That put us behind unfortunately. I think we had the best car. The team deserved to win the race. It was a bad decision from my part and I'm going to learn from it. It would be really easy for me to make a lot of excuses and say, 'Hey there's a lot of circumstances that play into it - and there are and it is a very tough thing to do,' but that's my job and in that situation I feel like I didn't do it to the best of my capabilities."

You win some and you lose some. But wouldn't we all like to have the advantage of hindsight in our lives.

BUSCH MEETS WITH POLICE

On November 5, the Dover (Delaware) Police Department confirmed that an investigation was being conducted based on an allegation of domestic assault involving Kurt Busch, and his former girlfriend.

This past week Busch and his attorney met with police and denied all allegations that he assaulted her inside Busch's motor home at Dover International Speedway in September; just days after the couple broke up.

Police spokesman Mark Hoffman says the investigation is continuing and that no decision on whether to file charges has been made.

Two female members of the U. S. Congress have sent a letter to NASCAR asking that Busch be suspended. NASCAR said in a statement, "We take charges like this very seriously. We are monitoring the situation, but until we receive further clarification and additional information, we will not make any decision."
